Crosstabs

The standard crosstab display is the default display type, and it shows data in tabular format. The first two dimensions of the cube represent the rows and columns respectively.

If you nest categories, the nested categories appear in rows below or columns to the right of the top level dimensions.

Indented Crosstab

Use indented crosstabs so that the levels of nested categories are indented and the relationships between the categories are more easily identified. This display also presents a more compact format than a crosstab, making it better for printing.

To change the display from Crosstab to Indented Crosstab, and back again:

- Click the Display button
- Select Crosstab
- Select Indented Crosstab
